Council Regrets Retirement Of Floyd Adams

"With very great regret," the city council last night accepted the resignation of Planning Director Floyd Adams who will end 26 years of service to the city in November.

"This is unquestionably a blow to all of us," said Councilman Eben Whittlesey and emphasized the extent of "the hole in the city family" which will result from Mr. Adams' retirement by citing the planning director's value, not only to the city, but to the area planning commission.

"He posseses a tremendous background of benefit not only to Carmel but the whole area based on a lifetime of keen observation . . . penetrating analysis of the past, present and the future," Mr. Whittlesey observed.

Councilman Herbert Blanks concurred with Mr. Whittlesey, both as a councilman and former planning commission chairman, as to Mr. Adams' value to the city planning matters.

Planning Commission Chairman Dorothy von Meier expressed to the council the deep regrets of this city body concerning Mr. Adams' resignation and wished him "happiness in retirement."

The council also approved Mr. Adams taking 30 days accumulated vacation time in October and the first part of November. His completed map designating all business premises and uses in the commercial zone was accepted by the council in other action.

Immunization of all city employes against influenza was another affirmative council action last night. This caused considerable amusement when funds for the immunization were allocated to come from each city department's "maintenance and repair fund."

Mayor Stephen Grant received approval for a proclamation declaring September as "Constitution

CARMEL HIGH AFS STUDENT

After three hectic days at American Field Service headquarters in New York with some of the over 3,100 foreign students coming to live in more than 2,000 United States communities this year, Tais Guimaraes dos Santos was met at International Airport in San Francisco by her Carmel "mother and father," Mr. and Mrs. Edwin B. Miller, and her three new "sisters;" Channing Miller, a student at University of California, Berkeley; Chelsea Miller, a junior at Carmel High School; and Cameron Miller, a student at Carmelo School. She is now attending classes at Carmel High.

Tais is the daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Osmar Macedo dos Santos of Rio de Janiero, Brazil, and an outstanding student at the Instituto Santa Ursula in that city. She enjoys painting and writing poetry, has had pictures hung in a Brazilian art gallery, also has won acclaim from Manuel Bandeira, Brazil's noted contemporary poet.

Through her participation in family life with the Millers, studies and activities at Carmel High School and contacts in the community, Tais will learn about life in the United States: Carmel will learn more about Brazil. She will have a three-week bus tour of the United States at the end of the school year before she returns to Brazil.

This Fall will be the first time in nine years that students at Carmel High School may apply for Americans Abroad, either the year or summer program, sponsored by AFS. Like Tais, they will live with a family, learn the language and customs of another country.

Tais will be able to speak to service clubs and other organizations interested in the AFS Scholarship Program beginning in December. Requests may be made by writing Mrs. Phyllis Calley, American Field Service, Carmel High School, Box 600, Carmel.

'Tight Money' Ups Civic Center Loan Interest

The "tight money" situation caught up with the city council last night when bids with a higher interest rate than anticipated for tax interim loan financing of the new police station, corporation yard and public works facility were announced. Similarly, an offer to purchase the present police station site was based on financing over a three-year period instead of a cash payment which the council had desired.

Two bids were received for the $300,000 tax interim loan financing of Phase I of the civic center. Accepted by the council was the bid from Wells Fargo Bank at an interest rate of 4.95%. The other bid was received from the Bank of America and carried an interest rate of 5.1%.

City Administrator Hugh Bayless told the council that he had been advised that the 4.95% interest rate was "reasonable." Interest rate on city time deposits, if placed in the same bank, at present would be 5%, he stated, and if such deposit procedure were followed, the city would gain .05%. He added that he had been informed that bank interest rates were going to 5.25% in the near future and this rise would be financially advantageous to the city.

When the tax interim loan financing plan was first proposed to the council this Spring, an interest rate of 2.7% percent was quoted by a bank to Mr. Bayless. The city's time deposits at that time were drawing 4.8% interest.

The $300,000 loan will be repaid at the end of the current fiscal year from hostelry tax revenue accruing to the fund allocated for acquisition and improvement of municipal properties, plus needed funds from the city's time reserves. Next July, a new loan will be negotiated, less the estimated amount of hostelry tax revenue allocated for capital improvements ($50,000). On successive years, until the new police station, corporation yard and public works facility costs are amortized in June of 1971, other tax interim loans will be sought.

Councilman Gunnar Norberg voted against acceptance of the Secret Session

The city council adjourned to an executive personnel session last night at 10:15 o'clock and reemerged from the secret session at 11:50 o'clock.

Mayor Stephen Grant then announced that the council would reconvene again on Wednesday of next week at 8 p. m. He said he was not at liberty to announce what had been discussed behind the closed doors from which all city officials and department heads were excluded.

"No action was taken," was his comment on the hour and a half session.

WEATHER

Mostly sunny, no rain, possibly some clouds in morning and evening. Temperatures from mid 70s days to low 50s nights. Westerly winds 10-20 m.p.h.

No Need For Garages, Also Landscaping Is Preferred To Parking

A reversal of policy on provision of garage and driveway space on the site of any existing dwelling which is remodelled, or added onto, was made by the city council on its monthly tree tour meeting Tuesday afternoon. The council also decided to remove an Ocean Avenue parking space located on city property in the residential zone and landscape this area, while considering tree and shrub removal requests.

The reversal of the policy which has been in effect came as the result of a request from Hal Oliver through Comstock Associates. Asked was clarification of a section of a city ordinance. Previously, this section had been interpreted to mean that any addition or remodelling of a dwelling required that 200 square feet of the site on which the dwelling stood be retained for a garage, also that space be reserved for a driveway to the garage from the street.

ANNIVERSARY PROPOSALS

Special events during a ten-day period were proposed for celebration of the city's golden anniversary next month to the city council by Councilman Gunnar Norberg last night. These included the presentation of the musical, "Pipe Dream," concerts, a parade and dance, talks on the history of the city, its citizens in many fields of endeavor, film showings, and a barbecue.

The proposals were referred to the Mayor's Committee for the 50th anniversary observances with Mr. Norberg urging prompt consideration as the anniversary date is October 31.

Cannery Row To Be Featured In City Anniversary

A story of Cannery Row's past featuring a golden-hearted "madame" and her "girls," also charmingly fictionalized "bums" of that era of Monterey's history made famous by John Steinbeck in his novel, "Sweet Thursday," was chosen by the Carmel City Council on September 1 as the production at Sunset Center auditorium to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the incorporation of the city. The book was made into a musical by Rodgers and Hammerstein, and in this form, as "Pipe Dream," will be presented under the direction

'Never Too Late' Opens This Evening At Studio

Husband and wife in real life will take the corresponding parts on stage as Sam and Edie Karas play Harry and Edith Lambert in "Never Too Late" opening tonight at the Studio Theatre & Restaurant in Carmel. Both have been active in theatre groups on the Monterey Peninsula for a number of years. Mrs. Karas is on the board of the Community Theatre here.

In "Never Too Late" the Karases portray a couple in their middle years who suddenly face impending parenthood with the mixed emotions common to this situation. Their daughter and son-in-law, who live with them and find the coming event a nightmare, are played by Sydna Flynn and Roger Parkes. Mrs. Flynn was in the recent Studio production of "The Pajama Game" and Parkes makes his stage debut.

Sally Richmond who appears in the role of Grace Kimbrough was last seen in the Circle production of "The Gazebo" and previously in "The Night Of The Iguana." Ed Shinbrot takes the part of the Mayor following a dozen roles for various theatre groups over the past few years, the most recent for the Circle in "The Madwoman Of Chaillot."

Webber Buckham, a commercial artist, is playing his first role as Mr. Foley, the contractor. Martin Merrick of the Naval Postgraduate School, who was also in "The Pajama Game," is doubling as stage manager and in the part of a policeman.

"Never Too Late" will run weekends at the Studio until the latter part of October. The production is under the direction of Michael Keller with set and lighting by Bob Evans, Jr.

Symphony Auditions To Be Given Monday

Musicians from Carmel interested in playing with the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra will be auditioned on Monday at 7 p.m. in the Sunset Center auditorium.

John Gosling, symphony conductor and music director, announces general auditions for all instruments. He notes that, "Applicants should be prepared to play an excerpt from the orchestral repertoire, and be available for weekly rehearsals held on Monday evenings throughout the coming year."

This will mark the beginning of the 21st season for the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra. The first programs are scheduled for October 17 and 18.

Additional audition information can be obtained from the Monterey County Symphony Association office, P. O. Box 3851, Carmel, or by telephoning 624-4125.

Republican Round-Up

BY BRUCE PERRY

Peninsula Republicans, including Women Republicans, Young Republicans, and Teenage Republicans, will conduct a round-up on Saturday. Anyone interested in the Republican registration drive should telephone Republican headquarters (375-6623).

Republican Round-Up Day on August 20, a statewide registration drive, in which local Republicans hit priority precincts in Monterey and Pacific Grove, was so successful that the area Republicans have decided to expand the concentrated mop-up. As a result of Republican Round-Up Day, over 50% of the Monterey precincts and over 40% of the Pacific Grove precincts were covered. The statewide average was about 40%. In Monterey 91 Republicans were registered and in Pacific Grove 63.

The Summer Round-Up this week will finish the work started by the Spring Round-Up, which netted 225,516 new California Republicans and increased Republican statewide registration by 7.8%. Santa Cruz County's door-to-door canvass increased their registration by 9.5%.

Remember, September 15 is the close of registration for the November elections.

Cypress Swim Club Tryouts Next Week

The Cypress Swim Club will hold auditions for potential new members Monday and Tuesday at the Community pool on Ford Road in Carmel Valley at 5:30 to 6:30 p.m.

Eligible to participate in the program of the synchronized swimming group is any girl between the ages of 9 and 16 who is a better than average swimmer, and who has maintained at least a B-average scholastically.

During most of the school year, the Cypress Swim Club members practice three nights a week at the Carmel High School pool for an hour and a half each night. The practice schedule is increased during the competitive season.

Interested applicants are urged to attend tryouts on either of the two evenings, and they will be given further particulars on the program at that time.

PEBBLE BEACH PARTY

Mrs. J. Arch Butts Jr., Mrs. William Durney and Mrs. William L. Hudson, left to right above, are seen talking to their host Aime Michaud, president of Del Monte Properties Company, at the "brunch" which Mr. and Mrs. Michaud gave last weekend before the endurance tests of the Pebble Beach Three-Day Equestrian Event.

Dr. Nancy Telfer of Torrance won top individual honors in the 3-day event. Second place was taken by Michael Collins of Pebble Beach. The Pebble Beach team, composed of Michael Collins, Mason Phelps Jr., Ryan Busby and Gerald Bearden won the team championship in the preliminary division.

Opera By Mozart Opens Tonight At White Oaks Theatre In Valley

Four performances, in English, of Mozart's comic work, "Cosi fan Tutte," will be presented at White Oaks Theatre in Carmel Valley tonight, and successive evenings through Sunday, at 8:30 p.m. The 30-piece California Chamber Ensemble joins seven operatic performers and a chorus composed of the White Oaks musical company for the production to be conducted by Chris Nance.

The 18th century light opera, the English translation of which means "Women Are Like That," tells of the trial of two ladies' honor by their disguised suitors masquerading to prove or disprove female fidelity.

Stage direction is being handled by Shirley Eoff with sets designed by Jack Simon and costumes by Don Mulderick. Lead singers are soprano Emily Lawhead (Fiordiligi), soprano Tracy Carr (Dorabella on Thursday, Saturday, and Sunday), soprano Peggy Hewitt (Dorabella on Friday), soprano Shelia Jo White (Despina), baritone Ed Crafts (Guglielmo), tenor Richard Veale (Ferrando) and bass baritone Doug Stobie (Don Alfonso). Veale as well as Misses Carr, Hewett, and White have been members of the White Oaks summer company. Miss Lawhead does the role having completed musical studies at USC prior to future vocal work in Munich, Germany. Also a USC student, Doug Stobie is working on his doctorate there while Ed Crafts is studying in Philadelphia at the Curtis Institute of Music.

On Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock the ensemble will be heard in a concert of Mozart, Brahms, and Stravinsky also conducted by Chris Nance.

Reservations and information are available at White Oaks Theatre, also at Central Box Office in Carmel.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel 624-3881.

LINES FROM THE STUDIO

Perhaps our favorite line from "Never Too Late" comes when Harry tells Edith to keep a frivolous hat she has bought as her reaction to the news of their impending (and belated) parenthood. "Keep it anyway," he replies. Or when Edith says she might vote for a Democrat and Harry protests, "'Edith! We took our marriage vows as Republicans!" Anyway "Never Too Late" opens tonight (dinner and show $5.50 or show alone $2.75) and will be on view Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays until mid-October. A short run compared with Broadway's 2½ years and we hope you won't miss this very funny comedy. Of course we're open for lunch daily except Monday. Almost forgot—auditions for "The Little Foxes" Sunday at 2:30 and Monday at 7:30. What juicy parts!

Internationally Famed Speakers For MPC Public Lecture Series

A full program of public lectures, special seminars and musical events has been planned for the fall semester at Monterey Peninsula College, according to Dr. Keith Merrill, MPC dean of the evening and community services programs.

Headliners in the evening lecture series will be Dr. Sidney Cohen, a leader in the researching of LSD, on October 7; Valery Tarsis, anti-Communist novelist who was recently stripped of his Russian citizenship and granted asylum in the West, October 28; Gore Vidal, novelist, playwright and critic, November 19; Art Buchwald, humorous columnist, December 6; Dr. Han Suyin, author of "Love is a Many-Splendored Thing" and other books, January 6; and Sir Alec Douglas Home, former Prime Minister of Great Britain, February 11.

Details on each event will appear in a community services brochure soon to be published by the college. This will be mailed to all persons who are on MPC's mailing list to receive monthly bulletins concerning community events. Others wishing copies may telephone or write for free copies.

All lectures, free of charge to students and the public, will be presented at 8 p.m. in the Armory on campus.

Seminars will include a series for home gardeners, starting September 30; a seven-session small business management forum—second to be offered at MPC—starting October 6; and "Politics '66," two evenings of speeches and discussion by the Democratic and Republican candidates for the offices of governor, lieutenant-governor, state senator, 34th District assemblyman and 12th District congressional representative—October 14 and 21.

"The Marriage of the Bear and the Dragon," planned for three Wednesday evenings in November, will feature three distinguished speakers in an examination of the bitter controversy between Russia and China, as well as showings of documentary films on the subject. The lecturers will be Raphael Green, an authority on Asian affairs, November 2; Kenneth S. Armstrong, director of news and public affairs for Cleveland's WJW-TV with extensive experience in Southeast Asia, November 9; and Lisa Hobbs, foreign correspondent and author of "I Saw Red China," November 16.

Musical events will include, in addition to several student concerts to be announced, The Claire Fischer Trio in a jazz concert September 23; The John Biggs Consort, a quartet of instrumentalists and vocalists, appearing in concert September 24; and "Legend versus Reality," four lecture-concerts on Chopin by pianist Gilbert Boyer of Carmel, starting October 3.

Ishvani, former student and partner of the great Hindu dancer Uday Shankar, will give a recital-demonstration of Indian dances on October 21.

Norvell Yerkes

Private memorial services for Norvell Walker Yerkes, son of Mrs. Carol W. Schweninger of Carmel, were held Monday at All Saints' Episcopal Church. Mr. Yerkes, a resident of San Carlos and an accountant with Spiegl Foods, Inc. in Salinas, died Saturday evening shortly after being admitted to a local hospital.

Born in Buffalo, New York, July 1, 1926, Mr. Yerkes was raised in Carmel and graduated from Sunset and Carmel High schools. He was a veteran of naval service of World War II.

In addition to his mother, he leaves his wife, Frances May Yerkes, a daughter, Mary, and a son, Norvell Yerkes Jr., all of San Carlos; his father, William D. Yerkes of Olympia, Washington; and a brother, William, of Appleton, Wisconsin.

Memorial contributions are preferred to St. Mathias Episcopal Church, Seaside.

Inurnment took place at Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno, with Mission Mortuary in charge of arrangements.

RODY HOLT HEADS FINCH COMMITTEE

Mrs. Rody B. Holt of Carmel is serving as chairman of the Robert H. Finch for Lieutenant Governor Committee in Monterey County.

A member of the Carmel Republican Women's Club and a former president of that organization, Mrs. Holt is also on the Congressional Committee for the 12th District and is a member of the Republican State Central Committee.

In the community, Mrs. Holt has served as president of the American Cancer Society chapter, is a member of the Community Hospital Auxiliary and the board of Cultural Arts of Monterey Peninsula.

NEW CARMEL RESIDENT

Commander Robert L. Pelton has assumed the duties as commanding officer of enlisted personnel at the U. S. Naval Postgraduate School.

He recently reported to the school from Aircraft Ferry Squadron 31 in Norfolk, Virginia, and is qualified to fly ten types of helicopters and conventional aircraft.

The former NPGS student served with the Naval Ordnance Test Unit at Patrick Air Force Base, Cape Kennedy, Florida, during the development of the polaris missile.

Commander Pelton will reside with his wife, the former Beverly Ann Brandelius of Van Nuys, and their three sons at Twelfth and Mission Street in Carmel.

Strike Prevented Jehanne Carlson From Being At Reunion In France

One of the persons whose travel plans were delayed by the recent strike involving air travel was Jehanne Carlson who found herself staying much longer than she expected with her son, Richard Salinger, and his family in Champaign, Illinois, and unfortunately, unable to get to France in time to attend a family reunion near her native village of Fesches L'Eglise on August 16.

The delay also permitted a visit in Chicago with Mrs. Squire Hurst, the former Charlotte Townsend of Carmel. Together, they attended a preview of the 68th Annual Exhibition of American Artists. "I tell you there was nothing there that had anything in common with what we know as painting or sculpture. The first prize of $5,000 went to a 'truck' which opens in the back and is staged in a dark area. It is driven by a man (plaster of Paris or some similar material) whom the viewer sees from the back. A moving picture built-in device projects streetlights, night scenes and reflections on the windshield," Mrs. Carlson reports. "True," she adds, "if you stand awhile you get the impression that this car is moving and soon you feel you are moving with it. It is very clever and worth the $5,000 award—according to the standards of three museum directors."

Mrs. Carlson also reports that the show contained many montages, some realistic, some fantastic. "Some of them were truly disturbing in their implications, revealing total anarchy in regard to universal basic art tenets. In addition, they were all loaned by art dealers." This latter fact particularly disturbed her in its implications on the art world.

Also while in Chicago, Mrs. Carlson became acquainted with the "Old Town" section of the city. This she found interesting. "Some areas have been renovated and are quite handsome and in very substantial shape. Such is the case of the charming house which Charlotte Hurst found, and which she has furnished and handled with great taste and a marvellous sense of what fits this particular type of architecture and its period."

This section of the city reminded Mrs. Carlson somewhat of Greenwich Village and somewhat of Georgetown. "To be sure it apes neither, but has its own characteristics," she observed.

As soon as airline travel resumed, Mrs. Carlson continued her travels and after arriving in Paris to visit cousins in France and Switzerland, then journeyed to Spain to meet Mrs. David C. Pitfield of Carmel in Barcelona and a visit with Mrs. Pitfield's parents, Sr. and Sra. Ramon Casanova, whom Mrs. Carlson met when they visited Carmel. Next will be a stay with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Onstad on the Spanish Mediterranean coast. Mr. Onstad, an architect, designed the first home of Mrs. Carlson and her husband, Jerry, in San Mateo. Following this she will visit relatives near her native village in France before returning home.

WHAT STRIKE?

Bob McGinnis Travel had its hands full during that 45 day debacle, but rather than "Giving Up," by telling our many friends we couldn't get seats on the airlines . . . we exerted EVERY effort . . . even taking turns at telephoning during early morning hours. WED AT WAYFARER

Mr. and Mrs. John Brooks Nielsen, the former Nancy Lee Baxter of Carmel, are shown at the Church of the Wayfarer, where they were united in marriage the afternoon of August 27 by the Reverend Burkert Cree of the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula.

The Community Church choir, of which Nancy is a member, sang "Oh Perfect Love." The soloist was John Farr, choir director, who sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, Thomas H. Baxter, the bride was escorted to the altar wearing a full-length, A-line gown of white organza over taffeta. It was styled with a pearl-embroidered Alencon lace bodice and a circular detachable train flowing from the empire waistline. Her hair was covered with a matching Camelot headpiece trimmed in seed pearls from which a fingertip English illusion veil cascaded. Nancy's bridal slippers were covered with lace and pearls, all hand-done by the maid of honor, Vicki Ann Hutchinson of Carmel. Her bouquet was a cascade of white roses and stephanotis, with a removable center of pale pink roses.

Miss Hutchinson was gowned in a full-length American Beauty rose A-line dress with which she wore a wide-brimmed matching headpiece. Her flowers were a cascade of pink carnations. The bridesmaids were Carol Nielsen of San Jose, the bridegroom's sister, and three former UC Berkeley classmates, Penny Roosa of Atascadero, Cathy Arreguy of Santa Maria and Roslyn Yagi of Honolulu. Their gowns of shocking pink were similar to that of the maid of honor and they carried identical bouquets.

Mrs. Baxter attended her daughter's wedding in an ice-blue, day-length gown with matching accessories and pinned on a corsage of lillies of the valley.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Coain Epps of Winton, was attired in a beige ribbon knit dress with which she wore olive green accessories. Her corsage was of green cymbidium orchids.

Everett L. Epps of Los Angeles was his brother's best man and the ushers were Richard Gaither and Harold Holman of Atwater, Robert Nelson of San Jose and Hubert K. Tanaka of Menlo Park. Michael Epps, the bridegroom's nephew, was ring bearer.

Following the ceremony, guests gathered at the Carmel Woman's Club to offer congratulations to the newly-married couple, who left later for a wedding trip to Idelwild.

At the reception, John and Nancy cut a cake topped with the unique little bridal figurines which had adorned the wedding cake of her paternal grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Baxter, many years ago.

Their future home will be in San Jose, where John, now associated with General Electric, will enroll at San Jose State to complete his studies toward a teaching degree in mathematics.

The bride, a graduate of Carmel High School and the University of California, Berkeley, has accepted a position with the California State Department of Welfare in San Jose. Nancy was active in student body affairs while in school here and is a former officer of the Carmel Youth Center.

Her husband, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Coain Epps of Winton, attended Modesto Junior College and Monterey Peninsula College before entering the U. S. Army. After two years' service, John returned in June from Viet Nam.

Jean Trabant Was Here

Mrs. Warren (Jeanie Cowan) Trabant, a transplanted Parisienne, was roaming Carmel beach last week, pondering the changes in the village, encountering old friends and comparing local traffic to that of her French home of some 15 years. She was here on a brief visit with her mother, Mrs. Miriam Godwin, and her grandmother, Mrs. Amiel Morris.

With her was her daughter, Gigi, who is with Life-Time in New York and was formerly on its Paris staff. The Trabants' elder son, Peter, and his wife are living in Florida, where he is studying oceanography with the eventual aim of continuing in that field in Monaco. Eric, who has also attended school in the U. S., is completing his examinations at his Paris school.

Warren, long associated with television and radio, continues his work in the media in Paris.

Colonel Cameron "Graduated"

Colonel William R. Cameron, whose wife is the former Alison Stilwell of Carmel, has been graduated from the U. S. Air Force Tropic Survival School at Albrook AFB, Canal Zone. An Air Force military group commander at Quito, Ecuador, Colonel Cameron was trained in escape, evasion and jungle survival in the school operated by the USAF Southern Command which administers special training and military assistance programs in Latin American countries.

After graduation from the University of California, the colonel was commissioned in 1942 through the aviation cadet program, later served in the European-African Theaters of Operations.

MR. AND MRS. MATTHEW LITTLE

The former Joan Marie Shymanski and her new husband, Matthew Altree Little of Carmel, leave St. Angela's Church in Pacific Grove following their wedding on August 27. The couple recited their vows before the Reverend Robert Vanoncini at an afternoon nuptial mass attended by family members and close friends.

J. A. Shymanski of Pacific Grove gave his daughter in marriage. Her bridal gown of white Saki was trimmed with venise lace. A headpiece of English lace held her illusion veil and her bouquet was an arrangement of lilies of the valley and stephanotis.

Mary Cora Shymanski of Pacific Grove was her sister's maid of honor. Another sister, Cecilia Shymanski, and Pamela Hamm, both of Pacific Grove, were bridesmaids. Their frocks were of maize Saki and they carried bouquets of daisies.

Robert Little Jr. of Carmel served as his brother's best man. Seating the guests were his brothers, Kenneth and Larry of Carmel, and Bruce Gamble of San Francisco.

Following a reception at the Pacific Grove home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Shymanski, the newlywed couple left for a honeymoon in Hawaii. Upon their return, they will make their home on the Tiburon peninsula in Marin County while the bridegroom continues his studies at Golden Gate College in San Francisco and his bride, who attended Monterey Peninsula College, is enrolled at College of Marin.

Joan is the sister, also, of Harvey and Thomas Shymanski of Pacific Grove.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Little, was born and raised in Carmel, graduating from Sunset and Carmel High schools.

WED IN EL SOBRANTE

From the time of their wedding on July 23 to their return from Hawaii and Alaska, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Handley have basked in sunlight and are now at home in their equally sunny residence at Robles del Rio in Carmel Valley.

The former Barbara J. Williams and Mr. Handley were married at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert C. Williams, in El Sobrante. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Handley of Carmel.

Sam Colburn Is Back

Friends of artist Sam Colburn are welcoming him back to the Peninsula after an absence of some time, during which he has been living in the San Jose area. Sam, whose last one-man exhibit was held at the Carmel Art Association Gallery in March, is making his headquarters temporarily in a Cannery Row studio.

New Administrative Officer

Archie E. Lapointe, director of the foreign language publishing unit of McGraw-Hill Book Co., is the new assistant general manager of the California Test Bureau in Monterey. A former resident of Trenton, New Jersey, he was also editor-in-chief of the social sciences department of the publishing company's Webster Division. Mr. Lapointe served earlier as director of foreign language of ETS, consultant for the State of New Jersey, also taught foreign language methods courses at several universities.

The new Cal Test Bureau official's family—his wife, Angeline, and their six children — arrived this week to make their home in Carmel.

Accepted For Peace Corps

Bill True, son of Dr. and Mrs. William True of Carmel, has been accepted for training with the Peace Corps and will leave September 12 for indoctrination in Philadelphia, training in Puerto Rico and, eventually, Peru.

In preparation for his volunteer work, Bill studied Spanish this summer at the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies. He is a graduate of Carmel High School, where he was student body president in his senior year, and the University of California, Berkeley, where he majored in American history. He was commissioned as a supply corps officer in the U. S. Naval Reserve and served a year and a half on the USS Columbus.

His nearest Peace Corps neighbors from Carmel will be Warren Roberts in Lima, Colombia Peace Corps Director Larry Horan, or—a long, long way off, Stephen and Liz (van Loben Sels) Stupack in Chacras on the northwest boundary of Uruguay. Bill and Liz were classmates in high school.

Beguiling Guest

David Richards carried on a shameless flirtation with everyone he met in Carmel last month. The beguiling seven and a half-month-old was here with his grandmother, Mrs. Sallie Montgomery, to visit his great-grandmother, Mrs. Marjorie McEwan Haller. As Sallie Haller, Mrs. Montgomery lived here as a child.

DATED TABLET

The left arm of the Statue of Liberty grasps a tablet which bears the date of the Declaration of Independence.

Art News . . .

Now on display at the Young People's Art Center, Room 11, Sunset Center, is an exhibit of Japanese children's art from Oita City, Kyushu, which has been arranged by Joe Broadman. The work, primarily by sixth graders, was donated by the late Major John Arnn and Mrs. Arnn of Carmel.
The center is open Monday through Friday from 3:30-5:30 p.m. and by appointment (624-3394).

On exhibition at the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art Association (AFA) gallery on Lincoln Street through September 28 are paintings by an internationally famed artist, the late William Ritschel N. A. of Carmel Highlands. Born in Bavaria, he studied at the Royal Academy in Munich before coming to the United States and establishing a studio in New York. By the time he was elected to the National Academy of Design in 1912, he had discovered the rugged coastline south of Carmel where he lived and worked in a remodeled farmhouse before building his castle-like studio home on a Highlands headland. There he worked until his death in 1949 at the age of 85, ever fascinated by the moods of the ocean which he expressed in oil and water color.

William Ritschel, in addition to the National Academy, was a member of the New York Water Color Society, American Water Color Society, Salmagundi Club, Artists' Fund Society, National Arts Club, Allied Artists of America, the Munich Kunstverein and the California Water Color Society. He was made an honorary life member of the Bohemian Club of San Francisco in 1930. He won many awards for his paintings both in this country and abroad and his work is included in the permanent collections of notable American museums.

Officials of the Fort Ord Army Hospital have sent out a plea for more paintings to decorate the wards. Recently, the Carmel Adult School art classes donated a number of paintings to the hospital. Placed throughout the wards, these have not only added color, but also given pleasure to the patients and proved to be morale boosters. More paintings will be much appreciated both by the hospital officials and the soldiers who are hospitalized.

The list of artists and artisans grows as replies are received by the Carmel Valley Fiesta de los Amigos committee for the most outstanding feature of afternoon festivities— Art in Action. There to demonstrate their work, or sending work for display, will be Bob Barnes, cartoonist and creator of The Better Half; Jack Swanson, Western artist; Jeff Barter and Robert Hoge, sculptors; Zane Speiser, metal sculptor and painter; er; Tegan Speiser, ten - year - old - weaver; William Walker, painter; Frank O'Neal, cartoonist and creator of Short Ribs, who will display originals of his strip; and Jerry Gerstl, sculptor.

The name of the Monterey Peninsula Chapter of the American Federation of Arts was officially changed to the Monterey Peninsula Musem of Art Association following the regular monthly meeting of the board of trustees on August 16.

Leonard Heller, president, and one of the original 17 charter members who formed the organization in 1959, said the change in name was an important step in clarifying the goals and purposes of the group which include establishing and maintaining a permanent art museum on the Peninsula.

"We intend to build an adequate museum to house our permanent collection, art library, workshop facilities and other museum activities," Mr. Heller said, "and we are working locally toward our goal with Cultural Arts, Inc., Monterey Peninsula College, the Monterey History and Art Association and the Arts Coordinating Council of Monterey County. During a recent discussion, members of the California Arts Commission visiting the Peninsula agreed that the number one priority and most positive need in this area is the establishment of a permanent museum of art."

Mr. Heller also explained that the organization will continue to be a chapter of the national American Federation of Arts as well as a member of the Western Association of Art Museums and the American Association of Museums.

Plaguing the local AFA chapter in the past has been the view held by many county citizens that the group was an artists' union rather than a non-profit corporation dedicated to furthering the interests and development of the visual arts. The past activities of the group have incluuded 73 exhibitions, 52 work shops for adults and children, 40 lectures, 14 bus tours to museums in other cities and eight international dinners.

The membership in the organization is now over 1,100. The group has an operating budget of $22,000 annually, used to maintain its Lincoln Street gallery in Carmel and to support its various art oriented activities. The Carmel gallery exhibits a new show each month and activities include the annual competitive Monterey County Painting Exhibition in October at which $900 in prizes are awarded to Monterey County painters.

The operating funds are obtained through several annual fund raising events—a Serendipity Sale, Artists Studio Open House and Christmas Creations Show. Local business and individual sponsors and membership dues also help to defray some of the group's expenses. The organization, as yet, has no large corporation or foundation support.

Mrs. Robert Stanton of Carmel Valley was the last of the 30 members needed to sign the certificate of amendment legally changing the name of the organization. Mrs. Stanton, a member of the board of trustees, is planning to resign from the board in order that her husband, Robert Stanton, may become a trustee.

Application blanks are available at the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art's headquarters for the organization's third annual competitive show, October 6-28. Three $300 prizes will be awaraded.

A local sculptor, Stephen Brown, is the new curator of the association's gallery. Mrs. Jacqueline Bray is office manager.

On Monday at noon, the regular monthly luncheon will be held at Town House. Reservations may be made by telephoning 624-1588. Cost is $1.

On Tuesday, a bus will leave Carmel at 8 a.m. for Carmel Foundation members to spend the day shopping in San Francisco. The return bus will leave the city for Carmel at 6 p. m. Cost $5.

HACIENDA CARMEL
Carmel Valley

Hacienda Carmel's men's club, the Casa Lobos Club, was invited by the commanding general to participate in the luncheon and graduating exercises of the all-Hawaiian company— Company D, First Brigade, Fourth Battalion—at Fort Ord on September 2.

On September 6, a general meeting of the recreation activities committee was held to discuss plans for the coming year. Mrs. Betty Heath is chairman of this group.

On September 13, a Women's Coffee will be held in the Casa Fiesta. All women residents are invited to attend.

CARMEL VALLEY MANOR

On Monday the Labor Day picnic, and barbecue, an annual event, was held on the terrace. Following this get-to-gether the manual arts studio held open house and articles were on display—showing what has been accomplished during the past year in the Wood Shop.

On Tuesday, a concert by the California Chamber Ensemble, a group of 20 Los Angeles musicians directed by Prof. John Fresenden, was given in the meeting house.

CANTERBURY WOODS
Pacific Grove

In October, a Hobby Show and later a Treasure Show are scheduled for Canterbury Woods residents. Also in October, Mrs. Margaret Seagreave, local artist, will exhibit her own paintings in the lobby and lounge. This will be followed by an art exhibit including photography, oil paintings, water colors etc. by the residents.

The deadline is September 15 for contributions to the anthology being assembled by the Canterbury Writers Group. It will include poems, short stories etc., by the residents. These must be originals.

FOREST HILL MANOR
Pacific Grove

HOBBY SHOW AND SALE — Today was one of the most interesting days of the year at Forest Hill Manor. The residents exhibited on the hobby table anything they had made themselves—pictures, jewelry, ceramics, handwork of any kind.

Many things were for sale — jams, jellies, etc. Funds derived will be used for membership activities and to help the program chairman when she needs extra cash for her work.

PINPOINT PROFILE

Angel O'Brien is one of those "fun people" to be with. She has that rare gift of not taking life too seriously. To her grandchildren she is known as Gram—and Gram can do most anything.

At 75 years of age some persons slow down a bit, but not Angel. She still loves to garden. She does her own housework, cooks, bakes and is very clever with handwork. The latter encompasses a variable field. To Angel it means crocheting colorful afghans and appliqueing tea towels by hand, never by machine.

Her energy is limitless. I guess one can say she gets this strength and vitality from her forebears who emigrated from sunny Italy. She was born in New Orleans. However, most of her life has been spent in the San Francisco Bay area. Get her started talking about the "Good Old Days" and you are in for a session, believe me.

She makes her home now with her son, James, and family in Carmel. Her husband, James Sr., died some 10 years ago . . . Yes! Angel has had her share of sadness too, but she has that quality of character that makes the most out of living every day to the fullest.

Many unusual things have happened to her. For instance, when she graduated from Horace Mann Elementary school in 1906, the graduation exercises were held in Golden Gate Park because the San Francisco Earthquake and Fire had destroyed the school. Mayor Schmidt was in tears when he handed out the diplomas to the children, Angel tells us.

Her culinary art is something to "write home about"—this year for the first time in her life, she entered a chocolate chip cake at the Monterey County Fair—and won a prize. But let us not stop here. Her entries of an afghan and tea towels also won prizes. Three entries, three prizes!

One of her elderly lady friends also received a prize for handwork. Angel says with a chuckle, "Well, for two old birds, we did pretty well."

"What is your secret for baking such delicious cakes, pies and cookies?" she was asked. "You just use a little shortening, flour, sugar, nuts, dates, a pinch of this and pinch of that. I just bake by guess and by gum," was her answer.

One more unusual facet in Angel's life story takes us back to her teenage days in San Francisco. She loved to read all about the operas and the primadonnas. This became an obsession with her. She decided to save her spending money until she had enough to go herself and see an opera performance, which she did.

"There I was," says Angel, "right up there in nearly the last row, almost touching the ceiling, Oh! but it was wonderful."

These performances were held in the Old Opera House on Mission Street between Third and Fourth streets.

As a memento of the "Good Old Days" she showed a handpainted cup and saucer which had been given her by one of the well known singers of her day, Georgette Renault, 63 years ago.

Study Predicts Gain In Population, Work

Population in the Monterey-Santa Cruz-San Benito Counties area is expected to increase 16.8 per cent by 1970 but employment opportunities are anticipated to rise by almost 20 per cent during the same period.

These are just some of the conclusions made by the California State Department of Employment Manpower Survey of the Central Coast Counties in cooperation with the Central Coast Counties Industry-Education Council.

The study shows that job opportunities in the three-county area are shifting steadily from the traditional agricultural base to industrial, commercial and governmentally oriented positions. Steady increases, all projected at above the population rise, are anticipated for such varied fields as construction, manufacturing, transportation and utilities, commerce, finance, services and government.

ONE-WAY STREETS

Editor,
Carmel Pine Cone

Must we fear too much opposition?

Odd, just before reading the Pine Cone I wrote the Carmel City Council suggesting they once again consider closing Ocean Avenue business area to vehicular traffic—then I read the Pine Cone.

Life being full of compromises, surely one-way streets would be an improvement but I would prefer closing Ocean Avenue — however, SOMETHING must be done so that we residents can get through the maze other than shoot the tourists.

As to the trucks double parking —this is ridiculous—but I guess we all are aware of the powerful truck lobby.

Sincerely,
(Miss) Marjorie Fontana

WE'RE SORRY, TOO!

Editor,
Carmel Pine Cone

It is with regret I do not renew my subscription to the Pine Cone. I have enjoyed becoming acquainted with you all through your fine publication. However, my plans to make your home, my home, failed to materialize, and so I will no longer wish to be reminded of what I am missing.

I have become familiar with your problems as well as with your beauty and your efforts at maintaining the status quo in a time of shattering instabilities as pertaining to traditional and well-founded cultures, and I sympathize with and laud those of you whose efforts are so unstinting and basically sound. You have a goodly number of working citizens who keep things as they should be for those of us who are content to pass by or let others do for us what we cannot, or will not, accomplish for ourselves.

I shall miss your splendid editorial comment, given when and where most needed and valued—the local news, which as a former newspaperman, I rate so highly anywhere—the good photography you take pains to present—your interesting advertisements, especially those exciting real estate ads each week. A special belated kudos to your for your pre and post Bach Festival coverage, something I still hope to share in someday.

Very truly yours,
Robert C. Kirkpatrick

Editor,
Carmel Pine Cone

Now that our season's activity is over, I can finally write a belated "Thank You" to our many contributors. I hope you will pardon the tardiness.

The board of directors and I, would particularly like to thank you and your staff for your wonderful cooperation through the 1966 season. It was a singularly successful one from opening day through winning the All-Star Area Championship. Your help was very much a contributing factor in this success.

Thank you again for your coverage and attention.

Very truly yours,
Horace "Flip" Jayne, Pres.

D. W. Lowder

Services for Darrell Wilson Lowder, who died unexpectedly at his Carmel home August 30, were held Saturday in the Paul Funeral Chapel, with Carmel Lodge No. 680, F & AM, officiating. Private burial with military rites took place Tuesday in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

A native of Idaho Falls, Idaho, Mr. Lowder and his wife, Edith, came to Carmel from Oakland a year and a half ago. He retired from his position in the finance department of Safeway Stores after 20 years' employment.

Mr. Lowder, a veteran of World War I, was a member of Shrine Consistory (MRS), AAHMES Temple and Yerba Buena Lodge No. 403, F & AM, all of Oakland, the Carmel Masonic Lodge and Carmel High 12 Club.

He also leaves three sisters: Mrs. D'Esta Davenport, San Francisco; Mrs. Kathleen Rosendorf, Independence; Mrs. Emma Mulhall, Idaho Falls; and a nephew.

Dr. O'Connor

Requiem mass was celebrated this morning for Dr. Vincent Daniel O'Connor, a resident of Carmel and Carmel Valley for the past 13 years. Dr. O'Connor died Sunday in a local hospital after a lengthy illness.

A native of San Francisco, Dr. O'Connor was born October 4, 1898. He was a graduate of the University of California, also St. Louis Medical School, and practiced in San Francisco for some time before establishing an office in Manteca, where he engaged in his profession for 13 years. He also was a physician in Pacific Grove for three years after coming to this area.

He served with the medical corps of the Navy in World War I and of the Army in World War II and was for many years a member of the board of San Joaquin County Health Department. He belonged to the Monterey County Medical Society, American Medical Association, California Medical Association and San Joaquin County Medical Association.

Dr. O'Connor leaves his wife, Helene, of Carmel Valley; two daughters, Mrs. Natalie Horsman of Hillsborough and Mrs. Constance Rudolph of Carmel Valley; a son, Vincent O'Connor of Burlingame; two brothers, Dr. John J. O'Connor and Dr. Gerald Brown O'Connor, both of San Francisco; an aunt; and nine grandchildren.

Burial with military honors will take place in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno. The Mission Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Friends wishing to make donations in memory of Dr. O'Connor may do so to the Intensive Care Unit of Community Hospital or to the O'Connor Memorial Fund of St. Francis Memorial Hospital, San Francisco.

This check represents the profit from sales at the MPVS Thrift Shop in Seaside for the first two weeks in August. Members of the Youth Center gathered merchandise, sorted and tagged it and helped in the selling at the shop.

Beacon House in Pacific Grove is now working and preparing merchandise for their two weeks at the Thrift Shop which will be October 12 through the 23. Anyone having merchandise they wish to contribute to this organization can call Beacon House for pick-up service.

At their monthly meeting, the members of MPVS voted to give $86 dollars to the Carmel Valley Youth organization for the purchase of screens at the center. They also voted to donate $100 to the Seaside Senior Citizen Club toward its Thanksgiving dinner and $450 to the USO toward turkeys for Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners for servicemen.

SOUP AND SALAD SPECIALTIES

Soups in France are served constantly, so much so that when a Frenchman asks a friend to dine he says "Venez manager ma soupe" (Come eat my soup). Running into a pal in town at the dinner hour he asks "On va a la soupe?" (Are we heading for soup?)

In California we enjoy a lovely soup and tender salad duet. Easy for an "a deux" family or live-aloners who don't like single blessedness and enjoy sharing supper. At lunch the soup is light and the salad tempting. We give examples of this streamlined and imaginative midday or evening meal. These miniature menus are known in today's jet parlance as "minimenus."

One of our intriguing sources is "Soup's On!," the lively booklet dreamed up by Louise G. Grigsby of Carmel Valley Manor. Proceeds from the sale of her book go to Children's House, a facility in Carmel Valley for children with speaking and hearing problems. The recently revised edition of "Soup's On!" has been distributed to book stores and newsstands on our Peninsula. The recipes we give soupwise are Mrs. Grigsby's while the salads are selected from a collection of California salads. We have luscious fruits and vegetables growing now in Carmel Valley. Treated with the expert care they deserve, soups and salads reflect many of the cultural influences felt on the Pacific coast. This gastronomic pair complements each other. Soups can be reversed from hot to cold and give a cheerful introduction to bright and fresh little salad meals.

If the soup is light, the salad is filling. If the soup is sturdy, the salad is simply delicious.

LUNCHEON MINI-MENU

French Bread and/or crackers
Iced Tea, Coffee and Wine
if desired

Mrs. Ford's French Soup

Toss a bunch of carrots, a couple of bunches of leeks and a few potatoes into a 2 qt. pot of boiling water. When vegetables are tender, press the entire contents through a strainer or blender. To serve, heat the puree, cup for cup, with rich milk. Season. Extra puree can be refrigerated for several days.

Shrimp or Crab Louis, Palace Hotel
(Serves 4)

Halve 4 peeled cucumbers, cutting a thin slice on each bottom to balance. If skin is tough, first score with a tines of a fork. Remove seeds. Sprinkle cavity with white pepper and seasoned salt. Fill center with sliced cooked large shrimp or the tiny local shrimp, left whole, and mixed with one cup Louis dressing. Do the same with best crab meat. You may want to combine both. Top with small shrimp and/or crab coral.

Arrange cucumber boats on individual beds of shredded lettuce garnished with sieved "mimosa" hard cooked eggs. Allow 2 cucumber shells per serving. Pass a sauceboat of Louis dressing. Quarters of lemon, dipped in minced parsley and sprinkled with paprika, should also be on hand. Instead of cucumbers, the right size zucchini may be substituted, or the salad may be served plain as a crab or shrimp (or combination) plate.

Louis Dressing

Two cups mayonnaise; ½ cup chili sauce; ¼ cup, each, minced green onions and green pepper; lemon juice, salt, white pepper and paprika to taste. Blend well and serve cold.

There is a spanking newly painted lunch room in the Valley called "The Chatterbox." Their generous Shrimp and Crab Louis salad is something to tell your friends about.

Cold or Hot Tomato Bouillon

Tomato juice mixed with an equal amount of chicken stock or canned chicken bouillon. Season, with lemon juice, salt, sugar and heat with a little minced onion, whole cloves, celery bits and pepper. Float in each cup of bouillon some chopped parsley.

California Fruit Salad with Raspberry Dressing
(Serves 4)

Two large oranges, peeled and cut into ¼ in. slices; 1/3 cup Ricotta cheese; 1 cup, each, cantaloupe and honeydew balls; 6 strawberries, sliced; 2 heads Boston or Bibb lettuce; watercress.

Cut each orange slice in half; spread with cheese; top with remaining half. Chill ingredients until just before serving. Put fruit, excepting oranges, into bowl. Tear lettuce into bite-size pieces and add along with a few sprigs of watercress. Toss lightly. Garnish with orange slices.

Raspberry Dressing

Combine 1 cup mayonnaise with ½ cup softened raspberry sherbet. Freeze. Before serving, stand at room temp. until mixture is right consistency.

A huge Carmel Valley peach, dipped in hot water so peel comes off easily, halved, pitted and each half served with the above dressing, or filled with Fruit Cottage Cheese, on shredded lettuce and watercress is easy on the eye, budget and time and will get just as many raves as the more elaborate salad.

SUPPER MINI-MENU
Crab Soup
Green and Gold Salad

Crab Soup
(Serves 4)

A renowned Down East recipe is simplified in this flavorful crab soup.

Two tbps. butter; ¼ cup chopped onion; ½ cup chopped celery; speck of thyme; 2 (10½ oz.) cans condensed cream of mushroom soup; 1 soup can, each, milk and water; 1 cup flaked, cooked crab meat (or 6½ oz. can, drained); ½ cup cooked chopped broccoli.

Heat butter in heavy saucepan. Add onion, celery and thyme. Cook and stir until onion is soft but not browned. Stir in a mixture of remaining ingredients and heat without scorching. This is best done in a double boiler. Serve with lemon wedges. For Lemon Crab Soup, follow recipe for crab soup, adding 1 cup cooked chopped carrot and ½ tsp. grated lemon peel with last addition. Omit lemon wedges.

Green and Gold Salad
(Serves 4)

One fourth cup olive oil; 1 tbsp. red wine vinegar; 1 tsp. fresh lemon juice; half garlic clove, mashed; 1 tsp. chopped parsley; ½ tsp., each, dry mustard and salt, freshly ground pepper; 1 fully ripe large avocado; 3 cups torn lettuce; 1 cup tender spinach sprigs; ½ cup sliced pimiento-stuffed olives; 1 large orange, peeled and sectioned; ¼ red onion, thinly sliced. Make a dressing of the first 8 ingredients. At serving, slice peeled avocado and arrange with rest in salad bowl. Toss with dressing. Serve well chilled. Crisp crackers, hot rolls and a cheese tray with tea, wine or coffee makes a fine feast. Chocolate covered mints will satisfy a sweet tooth.

CANNY COUNSEL by Sagacious Sal

Canny Counsel is a new column, exclusive with the Pine Cone. It is partly based on handwriting analysis, partly on psychological theory and partly on common sense. We hope you will enjoy this column and find it informative.

Dear Sal,

Age is creeping up on me, but I enjoy working still. My son is trying to make me stop. What do you think? Enclosed is a sample of my writing. R.S.

Dear R. S.

You have more drive, fortitude and stick-to-itness than many a person twenty years younger than yourself. From your writing, you're much too active to stop working and sit home. Tell your son not to worry about you.

Dear Sal,

My husband tries to humiliate me in public, so that I will do what he wants me to do. It's getting to the point where I'm so embarrassed, I won't go out with him anymore. How can I make him stop this?

Disillusioned

Dear Disillusioned,

From the handwriting samples you sent me, your husband's writing shows a person who is dominant, persistent, and highly critical. It would be easier to move a mountain, than to change him. You, on the other hand, show characteristics of being inconsistent, and overly generous. I bet he rides you about housekeeping and the budget! Find an expert housekeeper, and get a job. If your situation doesn't improve after that, consider ending the marriage!

Pine Cone readers are invited to submit problems in their own writing to Sagacious Sal. No name need be signed, but a pseudonym is desirable.

Writers Who Have Lived in Carmel

BY HERBERT HERON

JOHN FLEMING WILSON

John Fleming Wilson was born in Erie, Pennsylvania, on February 22, 1877. He received an A.B. degree from Princeton University in 1900. For two years he was a teacher then worked on newspapers from 1902 to 1905 and became editor of the San Francisco Argonaut in 1906.

He was a deep student of classical and the finest modern literature, particularly that which related to oceans, bays, rivers, and ports. He spent much of his boyhood at sea and he fought in a Canadian regiment for several years of World War I.

John Fleming Wilson was a dark-skinned man, short and sturdy, with penetrating eyes and a firm mouth. And certainly with a fine brain. In fact, his stories of the sea are among the best in the language. He was especially familiar with the Oregon Coast and the treacherous Columbia River mouth. He knew ships of every kind, from tugboats to ocean liners, and he served as an officer on many of them.

Raymond Blathway wrote of him: "As a litterateur he was perhaps the best equipped man I have ever known. But as a technical writer of one of the most complicated professions in the world he holds pre-eminence over every other writer in that particular branch of literature. Neither Richard Henry Dana, Herman Melville, Clark Russell, Conrad, nor Kipling can surpass him in his unrivalled knowledge of the sea and all that pertains to it."

Whether one can agree with this strong statement or not, John Fleming Wilson was unquestionably a great writer of the great oceans.

He married Elena Burt of Newport, Oregon, in July, 1906. He came to Carmel early in 1909, I believe. He lived on Carmel Point, in one of the only two houses on the windswept plain between the river marsh and the sea, with the sound of the breakers in his ears and the crashing storms on Point Lobos in full view from the almost empty Point where the seagulls and the hawks and eagles wheeled above his home. Today the Point is almost a solid mass of neat houses.

He left Carmel, I believe, in 1911 or early 1912 and died in a fire in 1922. I am sure he would have preferred to die at sea, with his body consigned to the pulsing deep.

His books are: The Land Claimers, 1911; Across the Latitudes, 1911; The Man Who Came Back, 1912; The Princess of Sorry Valley, 1913; Tad Sheldon, Boy Scout, 1913; Tad Sheldon's Fourth of July, 1913; The Master Key, 1913; Scouts of the Desert, 1920; Somewhere at Sea and Other Tales, 1923, published posthumously.

Robert Ross, Carmel Realtor Develops San Juan Bautista

Several years ago, Carmel Realtor Robert E. Ross decided that the City of San Juan Bautista would be an ideal place to have a branch office and be in a position to serve those persons whom he knew would discover this delightful place. Since that time, his company has had transactions with other brokers in San Francisco, Oakland, Beverly Hills, Fresno, Santa Barbara, Gustine, Madera and several in Oregon. These transactions resulted in the sale of thousands of acres of ranch properties and trades of ranches for motels as far away as Palm Springs.

Mr. Ross suggests that now is a good time to visit this historic city and see the many antique shops, the fine restaurants and the spectacular Fremont Peak State Park. The greatest attraction, of course, is the Mission, the largest of them all. Surrounding the Plaza in San Juan are many historic buildings relating to the period when the city was an important stage stop. More than a quarter-million persons visit these buildings each year according to a traffic survey. The Ferry Morse Seed Company has over one-thousand acres of beautiful flowers and they, too, welcome visitors.

The Robert E. Ross Company office in San Juan Bautista is staffed with experienced people who know the values of property in that area. The Carmel Office is staffed with personnel who know the Monterey Peninsula. When the Sierra-to-the-Sea Freeway is completed, San Juan Bautista will be a place to stop for many travellers . . . for food . . . for rest and for sightseeing.

Investigate this important historical area NOW for choice business and residential opportunities.

From A Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

Headlining our clutch of new books this week is THE SEACOAST OF BOHEMIA by Franklin Walker. This is the book published by the California Book Club which deals with the history of Carmel. Here is the closely personal life of the people who lived in Carmel in the early days and here they live together and are knit together into the whole fabric of early Carmel. Those were the days! Pity the rest of us who came later to find here a horde of tourists pausing briefly in a half hundred motels. But let us face the fact that . . . tourists or not . . . this is the only place to live. A verse of a poem by Nora May French expresses it best.

"It gathers where the moody sky is bending;
It stirs the air along familiar ways—
A sigh for strange things dear forever ending,
For beauty shrinking in these alien days."

There is a waiting list on this book so come in and add your name to the list. This is a real reading treat for us all.

And while we are speaking of California history, let us mention SAN FRANCISCO'S REIGN OF TERROR by John Myers. This is the story of the Vigilantes and how they turned San Francisco into a police dictatorship in 1856. It is said that, for the first time in over a century, the true facts about the Vigilantes have now been told. Much of the research for this book was done in the Huntington and Bancroft libraries and the illustrations came from these two sources. It seems incredible that totalitarian methods were used in those days which closely approximate methods used in Europe during and before the Second World War. Anyone who believes that the Vigilantes were patriots and reformers should read this book and prepare to change his mind.

A collection of the last essays of Paul Tillich has recently been published under the title THE FUTURE OF RELIGION. He vigorously answers the "God is dead" arguments. Paul Tillich died in 1965, and this book contains also a selection of tributes by men who knew him well, also photographs of him used as illustrations.

Judge Tom Blaine of Oklahoma has been studying allergies for over 20 years. He had the best reason in the world for doing this. He was himself a victim of so many allergies that he was miserable most of the time. He tried many things, some of which worked, and some of which did not work. He finally worked out a system of diet which gave him not only relief from allergies but made him feel better than he had for years. So the book came next and he called it GOODBYE ALLERGIES. Read the book if you are troubled with allergies. You may be able to benefit from his trial and error progress and work out a satisfactory answer for yourself. Judge Blaine worked closely with doctors and dieticians, and thus you have their advice to guide you also.

With all these intrepid people tramping across Death Valley in the middle of the summer season, it behooves us all to know something about deserts. We have a new copy of an older book by Edmund Jaeger which is called THE NORTH AMERICAN DESERTS. It's all here, the vegetation, the animals, the moisture, the temperature, the pictures, and even some information about the Indians who inhabited the area.

Latest addition to our travel guides is a Nagel guide to Yugoslavia. If you are going, come and take a look at the guide, and then go somewhere else.

—THIS WEEK—

INCORPORATION BEFORE SUPERVISORS

The petition praying the Board of Supervisors of Monterey County for authority to submit to the voters the proposition to incorporate Carmel-by-the-Sea was presented to that body yesterday (Sept. 5) in the morning.

A delegation of Carmel citizens consisting of J. F. Devendorf, A. P. Fraser, H. L. Warren and W. L. Overstreet placed the matter before the supervisors with the result that H. L. Warren was appoint census taker. At the next meeting of the board of supervisors, should the census report be satisfactory, a date for voting upon the proposition will be set.

EDITORIAL

The idea that the proponents of the proposed Carmel incorporation plan mean to put the matter through regardless of opposition, or of justice, should not be entertained for a moment. The matter is one for the whole community to decide—and it will be so decided.

Another thing, which the Pine Cone wants to make plain and emphatic is the statement that there is, and will not be, a "slate" of candidates for election as city officials should the incorporation proposition carry.

At the proper time, a public meeting will be held to nominate candidates. All these candidates will come before the voters for approval at the poll.

—W. L. Overstreet

VOTED TUESDAY

Delos Goldsmith, 88 years young, was in town to vote on Tuesday. His first vote was cast for Zachary Taylor for President. (Mr. Goldsmith built the bath house on the beach, the first seven houses in Carmel and the first hotel.)

EXHIBIT AT STATE FAIR

Carmel artists who will exhibit canvases at the California State Fair in Sacramento are M. DeNeale Morgan, C. P. Townley, William P. Silva, William C. Watts and Detlef Samman.

VICTROLA RECORDS

Mrs. H. L. Haskell, rejoicing that Sunset School now has a victrola, has presented 50 high class records to the school. All this week, the strains of beautiful music have been conveyed to the developing minds of the children. The parents of Carmel owe Mrs. Haskell a debt of gratitude.

Donations are still desired to complete payment on the splendid Victor instrument—and a cabinet must be provided to take care of the records.

RED CROSS SOCIETY

There will be a meeting tomorrow (Sept. 7) at Miss J. M. Culbertson's studio at 3 p.m. to organize a chapter of the Red Cross Society. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Several ladies who are interested in Red Cross work met at the home of Mrs. Philip Wilson last week. Mrs. W. S. McCay of Pasadena addressed the gathering.

The Pine Cone continues to receive letters from non-resident property owners endorsing the incorporation plan.

Letters To The Publisher . . .

Publisher, The Pine Cone
Sir:

We noted with interest your article "Aid for Home Sales," in which you pointed out that a house standing vacant, unsold, is probably costing its owner about 12% a year and that by assisting in the financing, an owner can avoid this cost and, in addition, get an extra 6%. Your article deals with the owner who owns his home clear, and you suggest a first mortgage of 70% to 80%, which is what any bank or building and loan association will loan in normal times. In fact in some instances lending institutions go to 90% on non-government guaranteed loans (FHA and GI), though this was not a common practice in the Carmel area. So an owner who owns his home, free and clear, and who is going to invest the sale proceeds for income, may very well have the answer to both problems (sale and investment) in an 80%-of-selling-price First Mortgage (technically Trust Deed, but I refer to it as a mortgage because EVERYONE knows what a MORTGAGE is.)

While this is a point that many people haven't considered, it is a rather obvious one for the house seller who is fortunate enough to have his house without a mortgage and who doesn't need the cash proceeds from a sale. There is another solution to this problem that is not fully appreciated by people who do not have experience in real estate. It is the 2nd Mortgage.

To people who are not familiar with this type of financing, a 2nd Mortgage is almost synonymous with financial disaster. Older people remember the depression and all the 2nd Mortgages that were wiped out by 1st Mortgages. Younger people remember older people talking about them. Still younger people probably don't know what a mortgage is, so they wouldn't be prejudiced one way or another, except that they will probably be on the borrowing and not the lending end of a mortgage. At one time, the only protection a 2nd Mortgage holder had, in case the 1st Mortgage holder foreclosed on the property, was to pay the first mortgage off in full. That meant having a great deal of cash always available, just in case. The law was changed so that if the 1st Mortgage (and I really mean Deed of Trust, remember) is in default, the 2nd Mortgage holder can bring the payments up to date (usually 2 to 6 payments) and foreclose on his 2nd Mortgage. That left one problem—how was the 2nd Mortgage holder to know if the 1st was in default. The solution to that problem was a later law establishing the "Request for Copy of Notice of Default". In order to foreclose on a Deed of Trust, one files a Notice of Default, which is recorded in the County Records. The person who is in default has 90 days to bring his payments up to date. After that he has 21 days in which to pay the entire mortgage or the property is sold at foreclosure. The Notice of Default is sent to the person owing the money and a copy sent to the 2nd Mortgage holder. Let's say for example that the First Mortgage is for $25,000, and payments of $150 per month are 3 months in arrears. The 2nd Mortgage holder can pay the 1st Mortgage holder $450, which cures that default, and then foreclose on his 2nd Mortgage.

This is a very general discussion; there are many sophisticated aspects to 2nd Mortgages, but on the whole, they are not the dangerous things that they are generally thought to be.

In the present "Tight Money" situation, in which the customary 80% 1st Mortgage is about impossible to find, and the 90% Mortgage even harder to find, the sale of real estate can very well hang on the owner's willingness to "carry a second." Either the existing first mortgage can be assumed or a new loan negotiated, plus a 2nd carried by the owner. The big thing to watch is that the buyer puts down enough cash that he won't walk away from his obligation, which he can do without further liability than losing the house, and that he has sufficient income to pay the payments on both the 1st and 2nd Mortgage. The other thing to remember is that most people are honest and pay their debts, and that this whole discussion is what happens only in those rare instances where the borrower won't or can't pay.

Very truly yours,
Arthur Strasburger, Jr.,
President, Carmel Realty Co.

Mrs. Thorndike

Funeral services for Mrs. Kathleen Kay Thorndike, who died Monday in a local hospital after a brief illness, were held yesterday at the Paul Funeral Chapel, with the Reverend K. Fillmore Gray of San Francisco officiating.

A resident of this area since 1952, she was a native of Park City, Utah. Mrs. Thorndike, under the professional name of Kathleen Kay, was for many years a building designer and decorator.

She is survived by her husband, E. J. Thorndike; a daughter, Mrs. Tom B. (Patricia Lynn) Green of Minneapolis; her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Grabill of Santa Clara; a sister, Mrs. Suzanne Hoelter of Milwaukee; and a brother, Wilson H. Grabill of Washington, D. C.

Burial followed in El Carmelo Cemetery, Pacific Grove.

Friends wishing to make contributions in memory of Mrs. Thorndike may do so through donations to the Community Hospital.

MPC Opens Monday For Freshmen Only

Monterey Peninsula College will open its doors for the fall semester Monday—but not to sophomores, according to John R. Blakemore, dean of student personnel.

Only freshmen will be required to be on campus that day, arriving at 9 a.m. to participate in a freshman orientation program planned by the student personnel department.

Sophomores will not arrive on campus to begin classes until Tuesday, Mr. Blakemore said.

He pointed out that these schedules do not apply to evening students, since instruction in all evening classes meeting on Mondays begins September 12.

A BUG'S EAR WITH A PROBLEM

We just listed an adorable little house, cute as the proverbial bug's ear, three blocks from town. It's unusual as our small houses go because while it has charm and delightful detailing and a lovely woodsy setting (with a brook in the back yard), it is nevertheless VERY well built, with a heavy shake roof, hardwood floors, heavy stained lap-siding exterior. The interior decorating and beautiful custom curtaining contribute to its cozy, spinning wheel charm. The problem? Oh. Well, it doesn't have a garage. (There's room for one, though, if you want it.) The price is $25,000 and we'd recommend you see it very soon if you have been looking for that well done small home.

Stock Market Notes

By Hugh Hannon

There is an old saying that everybody is happy when they are talking about their troubles. I guess that makes everybody happy these days. On the economic scene, there seems to be equal division between those worried because business is not good enough (might nosedive due to high interest rates) and those who think business is too good (prices might rise like a giant balloon and then blow up with a mighty bang).

As a businessman who likes to see business get better it's a little hard for me to go along with this "let's make business worse for a short time so it will be better for a long time" attitude.

The following is a quote from this week's Dow Jones news service: "World money chiefs joined the call for a slowdown in the U. S. economy. In their annual report the 20 member executive board of the international monetary fund suggested that moderation of business growth in the U. S. would strengthen the nation's balance of payments position and make inflation fighting easier for other countries. It is of crucial importance to world trade that the U. S. and Britain end their payments deficits".

So these economists are convinced that the best move is to squeeze some of the inflation out of world business. Will a politically oriented administration squeeze the inflation out of earnings and paychecks? If they do, the stock market will probably go much lower, and if they don't Minnesota Mining, Penney, Allied stores, Chrysler, General Motors, Allis Chalmers, International Harvester, Owings Corning Fiberglass, etc. should be bought.

There is plenty of money that will flow into the stock market when these big pension funds and mutual funds smell an end to tight money. One international banker who predicted this drop in January says "The market will go down. It's too early to reduce the prime rate. My private feeling is that after election the government will take policy to tighten the economy a little farther by increasing taxes." A California stock broker said "Anyone making money in this market has to be accident prone". Maybe the best idea is to buy bonds. First quality industrials yield 6% and California Municipal Bonds are yielding 4.8% tax free.

City Loan Interest Up

Wells Fargo loan in accordance with his contention that Phase I of the civic center should have been financed by a bond issue submitted to the electorate. Councilman William Sefton abstained on the acceptance vote because, as yet, no reply has been received from the committee of the California legislature which he and Mr. Norberg asked to rule on the legality of the tax interim loan financing.

The offer to purchase the present police station site at the $90,000 price set by the city council was made by August Nieto, a Carmel realtor, representing Stanley Weiss and Saul B. Weingarten. The sale of this two-lot property at the corner of Mission and Seventh was proposed as a means of paying for the Phase I civic center construction and would reduce any year's tax interim loan if accomplished.

The Weiss-Weingarten offer was to pay $20,000 in cash—$1,000 as a preliminary deposit and $19,000 at the close of escrow which must be within 90 days after the city has cleared the property of all structures. The remaining $70,000 was proposed to be paid within three years, or upon issuance of a building permit for a proposed two-story retail store and office building with an area approximately 10,000 square feet, whichever should occur first. Security for the $70,000 payment would be a note and a deed of trust—the note to bear no interest.

The buyers stipulated that their offer was conditional upon the chief building inspector providing a signed statement that the proposed development was a legal and permitted use of the property.

A report from City Attorney William B. Burleigh pointed out that the real estate broker's fee, $5,400, escrow costs and fees, also title insurance costs, must be borne by the city, plus cost of the street department clearing the present police station and corporation yard site. He estimated net return to the city from the sale would be $82,000- $83,000.

The city would have the right to retain any materials from the demolished building.

Councilman Herbert Blanks asked what effect the three-year payment proposal would have on tax interim loan financing of the Phase I civic center construction. City Administrator Hugh Bayless replied that the construction could be financed without the sale of the present police station and corporation yard site.

Councilman Eben Whittlesey wished more information on the proposed buyers' financial backing. The purchase offer was referred to the council's committee on administration for study and report at an adjourned council meeting on September 21 with Councilman Norberg voting "No" because he thought the date was "too soon."

Other council action in relation to Phase I construction last night was the transfer of $29,337.43 from the hostelry tax fund allocated to capital outlay acquisition and improvements to the capital outlay operating fund, also $6,195.60 from the general reserve fund to the capital outlay operating fund—total $35,553.03,—in order to pay current bills pertaining to the total $384,452 construction cost of the Phase I construction. These bills were $34,836.30 to Granite Construction Company and $696.73 for architectural supervision to Burde, Shaw and Associates.

Cannery Row Comes To Carmel

of Cole Weston and the sponsorship of the Carmel Arts Commission, the council decided.

The plot of the musical revolves around "Doc" of the Western Biological Laboratories and through him has tenuous connection with Carmel. Dr. Edward Ricketts, a marine biologist, lived in Carmel before World War II with his wife, Nan, and their three children who attended Sunset School.

The Steinbeck "Doc" is a character based on the late Ed Ricketts, who was the brother of the wife of Carmel's postmaster, Fred Strong. His former laboratory on Cannery Row is now a men's club known as The Lab.

Estimated cost of the production will be $2,500-$3,000. The council decided last week to allocate the $3,000 allotted in the 1966-67 budget for anniversary celebrations to the production. Also, up to $1,000 to be transferred from the city's contingency fund to the general fund to cover other anniversary costs, was approved. Ticket sales for "Pipe Dream," which will be presented on October 29 and 30 and two nights on each of three successive weekends, are expected to replace the sum borrowed from the contingency fund. Cole Weston will be paid $500 as director of the production.

No Garages Needed

City Attorney William B. Burleigh, on Tuesday, interpreted the same section to mean that such demands were not required.

This reversal freed Mr. Oliver from complying with requirements previously considered mandatory for his property on the west side of Camino Real between Seventh and Eighth.

A letter from Ralph Jacobs asking that shrubs be removed at Ocean Avenue and Carmelo Street entrances to his property led the council to eliminate the Ocean Avenue entrance in favor of landscaping. Mr. Jacobs, some months ago, obtained the removal of one bush on the south side of Ocean Avenue in order to provide less hazardous backing from an unauthorized parking area on city property in front of his gate, also removal and trimming of shrubs beside his garage driveway on Carmelo. In the letter read Tuesday, Mr. Jacobs urged further removal of shrubs in both locations. He termed the growth "too natural" and stated "if this is beauty, I don't know what beauty is," and demanded prompt action on his shrub removal requests.

Looking at the flourishing rock rose growth on Ocean Avenue flanking Mr. Jacobs, parking area on city property, the council decided that landscaping was the solution to the problem.

"I don't like his letter, or attitude," stated Councilman Herbert Blanks as preface to a motion to eliminate the parking area and replace it with planting. This proposal was unanimously approved by the rest of the council as access to the Jacobs property is provided on Carmelo Street. The council took no action on Mr. Jacobs' request that more shrubs be removed at his Carmelo entrance.

The council approved the request for removal of low branches overhanging the driveway of Mrs. Fanchon Freeman at Dolores and Eighth but took no action on the request of Mrs. Dorothy S. Wright and Miss Marjorie Fontana for the trimming of eucalyptus trees on Santa Lucia between Lincoln and Monte Verde. However, the council decided to find out if the city's insurance covers possible damage from limbs falling off this tree.

Mrs. Isabelle Terhune's request for a handrail on a hazardous section of a pathway on city land, which is the only access to her home on Santa Fe south of Eighth, was approved, also grading of this section of the city right of way to provide better access and drainage.

Regatta Winner Veers To Rescue Capsized Men

Had not a south wind blowing Sunday morning determined the course of competitors in Stillwater Yacht Club's annual Labor Day Regatta, and had not regatta winner Dick Thompson of Redwood City veered off his lead position, it is probable that two Watsonville brothers might not be alive today.

The Mercury sailor spotted the two burly men, who had capsized their small aluminum skiff while fishing, in the water at the race marker nearest Point Lobos. With the help of his crew, Jim Dickinson, he hoisted them aboard his 16-foot boat. They were then transferred with difficulty to the 36-foot sloop Sayonara, owned by Lloyd Womble and captained by Harvey Kilpatrick, both of Pebble Beach. The Watsonville men were taken to Stillwater Cove, where a waiting ambulance transported one, Ben Stowers, to a hospital for treatment for exposure. His brother left to pick up his car at Point Lobos before police obtained his name.

The Coast Guard estimated that the pair had been in the ocean about three hours, a half-hour longer than survival is generally considered possible in the cold water. Until Dick Thompson abandoned the race to rescue them, they were unseen because of the low fog limiting visibility.

In view of his heroism, club officials elected to average Dick's points on the two completed races for his score on the unfinished one. The winner of this and last year's regatta also carries the symbol of a National Mercury sailing champion on his mainsail.

Rob Gaestel of Merced placed second and Don Anderson of Sausalito was in the popular event which drew 44 Mercuries.

In addition to the over-all awards, trophies in each of the three races were presented to Rob Gaestel, Jon Raggett of SYC, and Dick Thompson, (race one); Lorilott Clark of SYC, with Doug Baird as skipper, Rob Gaestel and George Yates of SYC (race two); Pat Bradley of Fresno, Dick Thompson and George Yates (race three).

Robert Lawson

Robert Anthony Lawson, a near lifelong Peninsula resident who made his home in Carmel for the past four years at Carmelo and Fourteenth streets, died yesterday in a local hospital after a period of failing health.

The son of an engineer on the Southern Pacific Railroad run between San Francisco and Pacific Grove, Mr. Lawson was born in Castroville on December 5, 1889, and was a descendant of the Peralta family.

When Mr. Lawson was still a small child, the family moved to Pacific Grove, where he attended local schools. He later operated an automotive service company in Monterey for many years and was recognized as an ingenious individual in the automotive and electronic fields. During World War II, the late Colonel Roger Fitch called him to Fort Ord to oversee maintenance of vehicles in the motor pool, particularly the amphibious types which were then in an experimental stage. He received a number of commendations for inventions and improvements of military vehicles while there.

Mr. Lawson leaves his wife, the former Joy Raiford, whom he married in 1914; a daughter, Mrs. Roy (Elayne) Chanslor; two brothers, Alvin of Monterey and Charles of Daly City; a sister, Mrs. Charlotte White of Santa Barbara; and many nephews and nieces.

Funeral services are pending at the Mission Mortuary.

Floyd Adams Retires

Observance Month" at the request of Peninsula Masonic lodges. Members of the council's lands and improvements committee were delegated to meet with planning commissioners and work on updating the city's capital acquisition program.

All stop signs within the city were made legal by a resolution of the council. This action was necessary because a study by the city administrator's staff had revealed that 13 such signs, dating back to the 1930s, had never been officially approved. Mayor Stephen Grant and City Administrator Hugh Bayless were authorized to execute landscaping contracts with developers of commercial property.

First reading was given an ordinance which will allow the city to participate with the state in a police training program with the state bearing half of the cost. This action will tie in with the establishment of the Monterey Peninsula Police Advancement Academy at Monterey Peninsula College. Police Chief Clyde Klaumann is chairman of the MPC advisory committee for this school which will provide an 80-hour course of instruction. Captain William Ellis and Lieutenant Bob Fischer are among the 16 instructors.

The council also amended the municipal salary and classification plan to provide that academy certificates be a requirement for employment in certain categories of police employment.
